IN WEST VIRGINIA. Must Have a Third Ticket to Defeat

Bryan There. Z. T. Vinson, of Huntington, W. Va., is here to lend moral support to the honestmoney movement and urge that another convention be called to adopt a Democratic platform and nominate an anti-Bryan ticket. Mr. Vinson is an attorney, and in touch with affairs there. He spoke entertainingly of the situation in his State last night. Democrats will stand together on State issues, he says, and no attempts will be made to nominate a third State ticket. Since 1376, he says, the Democratic party has controlled the State offices and given clean-cut, honest administration. There is some fear in Democratic circles that Republicans might change the common-school | ter adapted to the same end." laws, so as to admit of the mingling of colored and white children, whereas they now have separate schools. On this ac count Democrats will stand together in State politics. But when it comes to accepting Bryanism, Mr. Vinson says there are many Democrats who revolt at the eannot conscientiously and consistently Martin was selected at a conference of urge Democrats to vote for McKinleyism, Democrats at Chicago a few weeks ago as against which they have fought so strenu- previsional committeeman for Nebraska beld, without another Door were to be without another Democratic candidate, he believes that Bryan would carry the State. But if Democrats are given an opportunity to vote for candidates representing essentially Democratic principles, he says that Bryan would lose West Virginia. Many conservative voters in that section, Mr. Vinson says, might accept the silver plank in the Chicago platform were it not for the attacks made on the Supreme Court and all lawful authority. West Virginia, he says, is like this State in one respect—the leaders of the Demo-cratic party, rather than arouse antagonism and lose their personal popularity have swung into line and climbed into the band wagon, although secretly they fear the disaster which free silver would precipitate upon the country. A feature of the situation which Mr. Vinon regards as a hopeful sign is the fact that voters are anxious for information He says that the farmers are allured in the first instance by the statement of silverites that what they need is more money; that the price of their hay and oats and grain would be dvanced under a different financial system. This, he says, is a statement which appeals to them and makes them lean toward free silver until they have had time to consider the philosophy of the financial question, when they see the error into which they have been led so far nothing has been done in the way of informing the voters, with the exception of the work done by the silver men, who negan the fight months ago. Mr. Vinson feels that when another ticket has been named and the work of disseminating information begins there will be a perceptible falling off in the Bryan ranks. According to Mr. Vinson, West Virginia s different from most other States in which the sound-money Democratic idea is being promulgated. In most places it is conment will be to aid McKinley. Mr. Vinson fleves that the electors on a third ticket will be elected in West Virginia. But at any rate, he is sure Bryan will not carry West Virginia, providing Democrats are given an opportunity to support another

The Conditions in Michigan.

John S. Lawrence, of Grand Rapids, on of the first and most enthusiastic supporters of the third-ticket idea in Michigan, arrived at the Bates House at midnight Mr. Lawrence came here from Boston, whither he was compelled to go prior to the sound-money conference in Michigan, and he said that, as he had been out of the State for more than a week, his information as to conditions there was no as fresh while there is a strong silver sentiment in Michigan, there are hundreds of votes that Bryan will not get if Democrats have a chance to vote for another candidate. Voters in both parties, he says, are badly tinted with Bryanism, and it is only by hard work that the free-silverites can be routed. If another convention is held, however, he feels that the cause of sound money will prevail, as Bryan's strength will be materially diminished. While in Boston Mr. Lawrence said he had a short telegram announcing that a large delegation from Michigan would be here to urge another convention.

Have No Paper Here.

"If Indianapolis fails to get the convenone of the members of the committee last night, "and the moving cause will be that of those cities has a sound-money Democratic newspaper that will give the convention fair treatment. Your Democratic newspaper here is not inclined to do this, and we do not like to have to depend upon Republican papers."

Saturday Night Meeting Off. Yesterday morning a dispatch was re ceived from Louis Ehrich, of Colorado, who was to have been the principal speaker at the meeting arranged for Saturday night, saying that he was confined to his bed and could not attend. The meeting was therefore declared off.

WHY MR. DANA BOLTS.

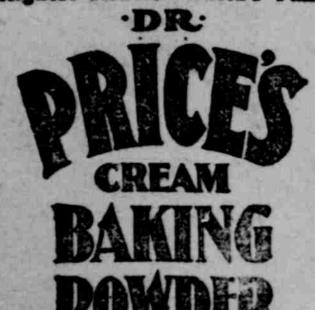

The New York Editor Calls the Plat form a "Declaration of Notions." NEW YORK, Aug. 6.-The Sun prints the following editorial this morning, signed C.

"Some personal response seems to be due to the numeorous friends who have sought from me an expression of my individual opinion as to the duty in the present political campaign of those who adhere to the principles which hitherto have characterized the Democratic party. The declarafor the most part, so hostile to the doctrines which have prevailed in the Democratic party in the past as to demand its rejection by all those who would not abandan the Democracy's essential ideas and

"The Chicago platform invites us to establish a currency which will enable a man to pay his debts with half as much property as he would have to use in order to pay them now. This proposition is dishonest. I do not say that all the advocates of free coinage of silver are dishonest. Thousands of them, millions, if there be so many, are doubtless honest in intention, but I am unable to reconcile with any idea of intergrity a change in the law which will permit a man who has borrowed a hundred dollars to pay his debt with a hundred dollars each one of which is worth only one-half as much as each dollar he received from the lender.

The Chicago platform sanctions the use of the appointing power of the President in such a way as to control the federal judiclary in deciding questions of constitutional law. It contemplates a change in the personnel of the Supreme Court of the United States, to the end that the recent decision declaring the income tax unconstitution may be reversed. Strange times, indeed are these, when a man is told that, in order to be a Democrat, he must favor the imposition of an income tax and the destruction of the independence of the judiciary. "In my opinion, without reviewing the Chicago platform further, the declarations in regard to the currency, the Supreme Court and the income tax, and the repres-

"I regret exceedingly to find a disposition quite prevailent to array the West against the East in the discussion of these matters. I see no occasion for making our differences sectional. Here there is no po litical hostility toward the West, such as expressed toward the East by some Western newspapers and public speakers. Good citizens can perhaps best aid the cause of honest money and law and order by devoting more time to rational argument and less to inefficient abuse. "All questions relating to the tariff have become insignificant for the time being, in view of the possibility, however slight, that the abhorrent principles of the Chicago platform may prevail. The duty and necessity to compass the final overthrow of that platform by assisting in the defeat of Wiliam J. Bryan can most certainly be acomplished by voting for the electors pledged to the support of William McKinley, but I have no quarrel with any Democrat who adopts any other course which seems to him equally well adapted or bet-

No Ticket in Nebraska.

CMAHA, Aug. 6 .- Ames Sheehan, president of the Jacksonian Club, attended the select dinner given in honor of Hon. J. Sterling Morton at the Omaha Club last night. Sheehan says a motion was made at the dinner party favoring a new ticket, but to attend the meeting at Indianapolis, and the Omaha Club confirmed his selection. Mr. Martin will leave this evening for Indianapolis. He is personally in favor of a new ticket, although Sheehan predicts there will be no ticket in Nebraska.

No one knows; that is, no one save the special committee appointed to arrange a settlement of the Diamond Match and New York Biscuit deals of the Moore Brothers knows when the Stock Exchange will resume active business. The room traders and many others have begun to make loud complaints against what they call the "arbitrary action" of the governing board in closing the exchange. Iron Trade Review. CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 6.-The Iron Trade Review this week will say: There have been evidences in the past week that the wave of apprehension over the unknown and naturally exaggerated extent of the free-silver sentiment is subsiding. While it is not to be expected that business will discount the actual poll, in a campaign involving so many new uncertainties, any development favorable to sound money will help to sustain confidence and keep the ney and credit situation from getting well under the great strain put on it throughout the year, and has been measurably free from failures, but, like other lines, it would be disastrously affected by any marked shortening of credits. In the past week, while there have been resumptions tion of notions adopted in the name of the of mills that had taken business in July on Democracy by the Chicago convention is, the promise that they would start up Aug. 1, the scale of new buying has not justified hopes that operations in August will be more than spasmodic.

Bryan and His Whiskers,

Nothing is to be gained by starting a campaign story that "Bryan once had whiskers." Of course he had whiskers. Every boy turns out all the whiskers he can before he is twenty-one. It is one thing to show that you can raise whiskers and quite another to persist in flaunting them before an outraged people after you have reached years of discretion. The best thing Bryan ever did was to shave off his whiskers, and we are much surprised to note that our contemporary, the Times-Herald, gives so much prominence to the whiskers story, though we are gratifled by its discretion in keeping the story off the editorial page. Whiskers in moderation are sometimes required by this rigorous winter climate, but Populist whiskers are not sanctioned by the ethics of polite society and gentle living. Horace admirably sums up the whiskers problem in his ode to the shaggy Ligurinus

O why in youth did I not learn The wisdom men employ; And why in age cannot return

THE WISCONSIN CONVENTION

SCOFIELD NOMINATED OVER LAFOL-LETTE ON SIXTH BALLOT.

Senator Thurston Receives an Ovation and Briefly Addresses the Delegates.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 6.-The Republicans of Michigan closed one of the most exciting State conventions ever held by their party at 8:30 o'clock this evening. The fight over the candidate for Governor, which ended with the nomination of Hazen S. Pingree, Detroit's famous Mayor, had been on since last winter. The Pingree the Alabama House and secretary of the men had predicted 350 votes on the first eleven of fulfilling their prediction. The Bliss managers had estimated their strength at 340 and showed only 286. The others, O'Donnell, Aitken, Wheeler and Conant, held their accredited strength, and a deadlock was apparent until the chairman ruled that the unit rule had no place in a Republican convention.

> Then various delegations that had been instructed to vote as a unit began to break up, and Pingree got most of the odd votes. On the second ballot he received 358 and Bliss 297. On the third Pingree gained forty-seven more and Bliss lost eleven. On the fourth ballot Pingree showed 443, while Bliss had fallen back to 287. All other candidates except Bliss joined in declaring Pingree being the unanimous choice of the convention. In his speech of acceptance Mayor Pingree did not mention the silver question, ignoring requests for a statement on that issue. • Colonel Bliss and the other defeated can-dicates pledged support to the victor. Congressman Aitken went further. He aninced his belief in the double standard. and declared that the most loyal Republicans are those who vote the ticket while not indorsing the entire platform. "No single plank is a test of party fealty," he declared. The remainder of the ticket was made as follows: Lieutenant Governor-Thomas R. Dunstan, of Houghton, upper peninsula. Adams, who made the speech nominating Lafollette yesterday. moved to make the nomination of Major Scotield unanimous. He did this because the vote of the First district on the sixth ballot made it apparent that Major Scoffeld would be nominated. Mr. Hoard expressed his approval of the notion to make the nomination unanimous, which was carried amid tremendous enthusiasm.

The convention reconvened this morning shortly after 10 o'clock, and the second inning of gubernatorial nominations was re-When a Milwaukee delegate seconded Lafollette by saying he hoped every delegate would vote for "Honest Bob Lafollette," the friends of the Dane county man attempted to stampede the convention, but Chairman Griffin suppressed the onstration. He said that he had spoken last night about the money question, but he wanted to say that in November the money question would be settled and the tariff question would be the paramount issue. Anarchy and socialism would have to give way to the good sense of the American people.

Before proceeding to complete the ticket delegate A. R. Hall, of Dunn county, brought forward his resolution, declaring against the correspondence and the use of railroad passes by State officials, legislators and judges of the courts. The resolution was adopted. A motion was adopted that the present State offices other than Governor be renominated as a whole and it was done by acclamation. Him in Philadelphia. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 6.-Mark A. Hanna came to this city, this afternoon and had an important conference with a number of leading business and professional men of both parties. At the Pennsylvania railroad station he was met by Provost C. C. Harrison, of the University of Pennsylvania, John Wanamaker, Thomas Dolan, Frank Thompson and several others. The party were driven to the Stratford Hotel, where committees representing the business men's campaign committee and the Union League campaign committee conferred with Mr. Hanna for an hour and a half. The representatives of the former organization were the most numerous and prominent in the conference. which was private. One of the gentlemen present said the object of the conference was to obtain Mr. Hanna's assistance in the extension of the scope of the routine Business Men's organization in other cities. It is the desire of the organization, he said, to co-operate with the national Republican committee in the collection of campaign funds and all other campaign work. At the conclusion of the conference Mr. Hanna expressed his entire approval of the movement and his intention to join Besides those mentioned there were present at the conferences Rudolph Blacke-burgh, John H. Converse. Howard B. French, Mayor Charles F. Warwick, Theodore Justice, ex-Mayor Stuart, Charles Emory Smith, United States Senator William J. Sewall, Thomas McKean and number of others, including William M. Singerly, Joseph F. Sinott and Frank Thompson, heretofore leading Democrats. Mr. Thompson, who is first vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company made the first public announcement this afternoon of his intention to vote for Mc-Kinley. It is said that his interest in the campaign is so great that he has abandoned his customary summer vacation which this year was to have included six weeks trip in the far West, and will remain at home and work for the success of the Republican ticket. During the general discussion of the finances of the campaign Mr. Hanna said: Every campaign contributor, without a single exception, will have access to the books of the national committee and know how every dollar is expended." Mr. Hanna says the question of Mr. Mc Kinley taking an active part in the campaign has not yet been discussed. His be lief is that Mr. McKinley will pursue his present course, "He will not," Mr. Hanna said, "go on the stump against Mr. Bryan."

Mr. Hanna left to-night for Cleveland.

The Funny Little Folks.

Washington Post. One of my friends has an interesting family of little ones; that is to say, they are interesting at such times as they are not objects of terror. Of late they have been attending Sabbath school regularly, and have been intensely interested in the Scripture readings. A few Sundays ago their mother read them the story of Lot's wife, and how she was punished for her disobedience. The very next day there was an outbreak among the children. The mother reproved Bobby especially. "Bobby," said she. "I shall be obliged to punish you, and I don't want to do that.' 'Why don't you?" asked Bobby. "Would. t make too much salt?" Once upon a time these very same children-the story is perhaps a little irreverant, but whenever was childhood and reverence even speaking acquaintances?were discovered in the garden making what seemed to the mother to be a monster mud pie.

I can't let Bobby pass without telling ou one other of his exploits. He is living out at Chevy Chase this summer, and has all sorts of pets. Among them is a hen. One morning recently the cook went out into the garden with some scraps. The hen was not to be found. At last a frenzied squawking from beneath a box on which Bobby was sitting revealed the unfortunate fowl's whereabouts. "Don't come near." cried Bobby. Hill expressed his feeling freely about the Chicago convention and its platform, and of the contest that had been going on in his own mind as to his duty as a Democrat at this time. Before they were through, it is said, he told Senator Jones the New York State convention would in all probability indorse the ticket named at Chicago and reaffirm its own platform lopted at the last State convention. I found a interesting phase of the bicycle craze in evidence in a large number of Western cities, and, if it is not so already, it is a phase that must soon find favor in the East. In the West a good many of the principal race tracks have been improved so as to admit of bicycle as well as horse racing. I attended one meeting in Colorado Springs early in June last. Horse races and bicycle races formed alternate events on the card, and the result was highly successful. There was as active pool selling on one as on the other, and the excitement was equal. If this custom should spread or become general, a new class of people will be attracted to the race grounds, and interest will be keener, for the bicycle rider will be better known than the horse. It is a fact that the season of the theater is becoming shorter and shorter. In many of our cities where the theaters used to remain open for ten months of the year. seven or eight months are now found to be long enough. In St. Paul, for instance, a theatrical manager told me that his houses have been closed in summer for the first time this year. This is true, particularly of the smaller cities. But the bicycle is not altogether to blame. The trolley has played its part. Where a short time ago people could not go to the country without great expense, they now have had the country literally brought to them by the cheap and swift trolley car. A few years ago in San Francisco it cost from $3 to $10 to go to the famous Cliff House and Sutro Heights. Now it costs only 10 cents for the round trip. And nearly every city can tell a similar story. Cool evenings are tempting and nature is laviting. The trouble for theatrical managers is that this condition of things will become more so. and they will have to be content with the profits of a limited season.

Street-Car Honesty.

"Now, what," said the scrupulous man, 'do you do when a street car conductor overlooks you and forgets to ask you for your fare?" "I give it to him without being asked of course." said the conscientious man. "I used to do that," said the scrupulous man, "till a conductor whom I knew told me that I had thereby been the means of getting him reprimanded. There was a spotter on the car, and my action served to call attention to the fact that the con ductor had been remiss in his duty. I probably would not have been noticed had kept still. Now, what should a man do in such a case?" "Well, for my part," said the sad devi when a conductor overlooks me, I consider it an invitation from the company to take a glass of beer at its expense.

LIGHTNING INSTANTLY WALTER SCOTT, OF CHICAGO.

Storms and Hot Weather in North-Fatal Cases of Prostration at Chicago and in Indiana.

CHICAGO, Aug. 6 .- During a heavy thunder and rainstorm this evening at 5 o'clock Walter Scott, aged twenty-seven years, of the firm of Bauer & Scott, stone dealers, was instantly killed by lightning on Calumet avenue while riding home on his bicycle. While the thermometer did not register as high as during the previous two days, the effects of the great heat were more deadly. During the day there have been four fatal cases of sunstroke and nearly a score or more of less serious prostrations. The rainstorm, which began bout 5 o'clock and did not last much more than half an hour, flooded most of the basements in the down-town or business districts from five to ten inches. Storm and Heat at Cleveland. CLEVELAND, Aug. 6 .- Following the excessive heat of this morning a terrific storm of lightning, wind and rain came up this afternoon, playing havoc with telegraphic communication. The rain fell in torrents and the lightning was almost continuous. For a time all telegraphic communication with points west of this city the free-silver platform adopted Tuesday. was cut off. The wind reached a velocity of forty miles an hour and nearly a half inch of rain fell within the space of thirty minutes. Just before the storm the mercury reached ninety-two, the highest point of the summer. Shortly after the storm a rumor was in circulation that an excursion
